Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Wednesday 09 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Showery rain in west on Wednesday. Mainly dry in east.

Today:
Most areas staying cloudy with occasional mainly light rain, though a few short heavier outbreaks are possible in the west in the morning. A few bright spells in east. Feeling warm and humid.

Tonight:
Mostly cloudy, a little drizzle in the west, but becoming dry in the east, Some heavier rain may reach the Outer Hebrides by morning, along with strong southerly winds.

Thursday:
The Northern and Western Isles cloudy with outbreaks of rain, heavy at times, with strongsoutherly winds,. Elsewhere mainly dry, some bright or sunny intervals, and warm or very warm.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Sunshine and scattered showers on Friday. Dry with some sunshine on Saturday. Mostly dry on Sunday but some rain possible in the northwest.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.